selling Out Their Memphis Stock with a View to Closing Their House by July 10th.

Since the announcement of this firm that their Memphis house was to be closed, and that the goods would be sold far below market value, sales have been so heavy as to in duce them to make an effort to close out by July 10th. The New York and St. Louis houses demand the entire time of the members of the firm. Mr. Dave Eiseman, who has for some time managed the Memphis store, goes to New York. The house in this city has a large stock of staple goods and notions on hand yet, and country orders can be fully supplied, and at prices that cannot be had elsewhere. Retailers who want to make purchases should call on Rice, Stix & at lowest cash prices, and is now offered at per yd. figures that will secure purchasers. It is needless to recommend this firm. Its integrity and liberality are well known. This

Court, Sitting in the Case of David A. Jones, An Alleged Participator in the Acts of

Piracy Committed Against the City of Vicksburg.

Yesterday, in the United States Court, Judge Shelby S. Hammond charged the jury in the case of the United States is, J. A. (ENTRAL METHODIST CHURCH-Union st.-U Sabbath-schoolat 9 a.m. Preaching at 11 Stone, charged with piracy and plundering the distressed stramer City of Vicksburg near Ashport some time since. The charge, which is given below, will be found to contain very aluable information as to wrecked vessels ime law covering the entire subject as aplied to the care on trial. Persons living ter, A. G. Park, pastor. long the river shor's, and who have confused ders as to rights of property when a sunken or wrecked ve.s:l is within their range, will be instructed by reading this charge. The law on the subject is re-follows:

Revived Statutes of the United States, section destroys any money, goods, merchandise, or other effects, from or belonging to any vessel in distress, or we cked, lost, stranded or cast away upon any sea, or upon any reef, shoal, bank or rocks of the sea, or in any place within the admiralty or maritime jurisdiction of the United States; and every person who willfully obstructs the escape of any perso endeavoring to save his life from such vesse or the wreck thereof; any person who holds out or shows false lights, or extinguishes any sailing upon the sea into danger, or distress, or shipwreck, shall be punished by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, and be gued during the present week.

> Charge of the Court. The object of this statute and others in ne same chapter is to protect all persons property er gaged in the commerce United States, or within the a miralty and maritime jurisdiction of the United States from all manner of spoliation and violence, or rapine and plunder. It is a matter peculiarly within the jurisdiction of the United States, and the necessity for such statutes is obvious. Whether such persons and property are like-wise within the protection of the common or statutory laws of the several States against the same or analogous crimes, it is not nece sary to inquire, but many of the offense r to the general common law of England or ike all others against the United States, is urely statutory, and we are not administe the common or State statutory law of larceny, but a statute of the United States defining the statutory crime of "plundering, tealing or destroying any money, goods, nerchandise, or other effects, from or belonging to any vessel in distress, or wrecked, lost, stranded, or cast away upon the sea, or in any other place within the admiralty and maritime jurisdiction of the United States." There are two other offenses declared in this same section, with which we now have no concern; but the one contained in the words I have quoted is a single and distinct offense, with which we are now dealing in the trial of this lefendant. It is not, as has been supposed in argument, and, as has been probably thought by the pleader who drew this indic ment, a statute defining several offenses, namely: One of plundering from a vesse wrecked or in distress; another of plunder One of plundering from a vessel ing goods belong to a vessel so sit another of stealing goods from such another of stealing goods belonging to her; and still another of destroying goods either from or belonging to the vessel. The whole first clause of the section describes a single offense, and it might well have been so charged in the language of the statute, pure course, the necessary jurisdictional aver-ments as to the condition and location of the vessel. We are authorized to treat the inetment as if it had been so framed, and I charge you, therefore, that if the defendant goods mentioned in the indictment, from a ves wrecked or in distress, in any place within the admiralty and maritime of the United States, he is guilty under this the allegations into the several co director of the Panola Oil Works, and John D. Murtagh was elected president vice James R. Miller, resigned. Captain Miller goes to Little Bock to take charge of the oil-works in that city, and in which works he is large- owner, the goods are within the protection of y interested.

-The Criminal Court stands adjourned to next Tuesday morning. The present term is closing out for want of business. The grand jury will report and be discharged on Tuesday next. The Clerk of the Court requests magistrates to at once send up their warrants, so that the grand jury can act upon nor other words used in describing this of-fense, to import into this statute from the Stephen and W. H. Jones, deacons of Salem Stephen and W. H. Jones, deacons of Salem Church, for the use of the Primitive Baptists, known as the "Hard-Shell" Baptists. The consideration was $25 35, and the object of consideration was $25 35, and the object of that alone of taking the goods for the purpose of restoring them to the master, or other officer of the unfortunate vessel, or to other officer of the unfortunate vessel, or to ing over the success of the Porter Rifles | their ultimate rightful owner. If a person the success of the Forter thines the success of the succe meeting the Porters now? that is the absorbing question." The Porters can challenge them than preserving them for the master ing question." The Porters can challenge the "Chicks," the holders of the champion medal of Tennes ee, and in this manner be able to inform the Banner man all about it.

'-Lambillotte's mass has been selected for to-day's high mass at St. Peter's. The choir takes the goods with the lawful intent to preacquiring a high rank as to proficiency and serve and restore them, and afterward yields accuracy under the capital training of Prof. to the temptation of avarice or cupidity, and material, whether by open force or stealth or otherwise. The words of this statute are sweeping and comprehensive. They include all unlawful taking, whether on the facts the crime at common law would be piracy, rol alicions mischief or what not; and include fraudulent breach of trust. To illustrate master of a vessel to be carried as freight the whole cargo or packyge, he is not guilt of larceny, but only a breach of trust, out he breaks the package and takes a part he i such refinement in this statute, and the vessel be wrecked or in distress at th time of the taking, the master would guilty, if not of stealing certainly of plundering, and would be caught by this statute in a crime as he should be. This statute is not, gentlemen of the jury, a de necessary to go outside of the company. Why not offer the responsible positions to two well-drilled members of the Chickasaw owner of goods that are wrecked, either from the wreck or afloat, is in itself morally wrong, and it must so occur to every man whose sensibilities are not blunted by avarice, that t is against common right to do it. It may t be against common law, but every ma should expect to find some law in some stat-ute somewhere to punish it. Unfortunately hsaster occurs by fire, flood, or stor protected by the ordinary care and posresistible temptation to appropriate it in th f it, and often even where the man wor stealing from his neighbor. They don't loo goods that are wrecked. Now, I do not hes tate to say, that where a man under the ir what seems lost, and is not a professions prescribed by authorizes acquittal at your hands.
